PRESS RELEASE (for immediate release)

Precise team in Mexico training local, state and federal police.

Miami: June 16, 2010

Precise Protective Research Inc. located in Miami Florida, as part of a contract with the United States Department of State, is continuing its training of Mexican Police. This includes Mexican Prosecutors, as well as Federal, State, and local Law Enforcement officers.

The training is geared towards fighting the war on drug trafficking in Mexico and providing Mexican authorities with the expertise needed to reduce the flow of illegal drugs within Mexico and the export of drugs into the United States, particularly in the border regions of California, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

Precise, founded in 1997 is a “full service” international leader in the fields of security, risk assessment, intelligence gathering, forensics, and investigations. The company has a global presence and is a recognized leader in training law enforcement personnel in multiple disciplines. The Precise Management Team, comprised of many retired local and national Law Enforcement Officers, represent more than one hundred (100) years of the highest levels of experience in their fields.

Illegal immigration into the United States is a difficult problem, and the training of Mexican authorities is intended to make Mexico better equipped to deal with its internal crime problems and to create a safer and more stable environment for its citizens, hopefully then reducing the flow of illegal entry by Mexican citizens into the U. S.
